The Essence of Power in Seduction is controlling the chase. It flows from your inner strength and Alpha confidence, charismatic presence, and dynamic execution of the skills. There's no substitute for being a smooth talker, and having The Look that speaks volumes. The Art of the Pickup involves analyzing your target, finding her weaknesses, and role-playing her desires. Sexual Persuasion occurs by triggering her subconscious emotions; you remove her barriers, build trust, and initiate the close. The best Players succeed by acting teasingly cocky, have a cutting sense of humor, and the poise to pull it off with class. This acquired talent will elevate your closing ratio, and attract trophy women you thought to be way out of your league.

Mastering speed seduction sets a premium on controlling your time and money management. It also exploits the advantages of psychoanalysis of your targets. Knowing whom not to pursue is the most valuable tool in dating...and without getting too serious about it, be aware of the Alpha Masculine Image you present. Life is about marketing yourself. People make their decisions about you in the first 30 seconds. Men who ooze confidence and a passion for life radiate sex appeal, energy, and social status. Women are instantly attracted and drawn to their perceived success. Turbo-charge your game by mastering your look, style and attitude. Body Language and presence are 80% of the game. When you control the timing, tone and emotions, you control the outcome. Life is not a spectator sport for the Professional Bachelor. No pussies allowed.

Many will approach this as a pickup artist manual, as it can dramatically increase your success with women. Yet it's not about memorizing lines and bending rules to get laid, in an attempt to validate yourself. The hidden dynamics of relationships, and understanding the methods in the Chase, are merely facets of the Game. It is not the end, but the means.

In some aspects, this book's central theme is not about women at all. True masculine wisdom is learning a higher level of self-confidence and attitude are what engineer achieving your life goals. Determine exactly what it is that makes you happy. Set out to get what you want, when you want, without compromise. With success and a ballsy attitude, attracting women like a magnet are a consequence of becoming an Alpha Male; it's not about the clothes, dance moves, or cheesy pickup lines. Enjoy the thrill of the chase, but absorb the lessons of success. Let it define your identity and lifestyle, until the game fades away, giving way to who you are.

Remember, when the flat line is approaching, your thoughts will not center on the expensive toys you collected. What matters most are the things that no one can take away from you...the exhilarating experiences, heart-throbbing relationships...the sensual, exotic women...and the Hedonistic approach to squeezing out every last drop of pleasure until the last damn minute of your life. Live life to the fullest. Live it on your terms, and be...

IT'S A MAN'S WORLD

On the depths of our genetic makeup, we were all once Prehistoric Warriors and pure Alpha studs. Eyeing them from the trees bathing in streams, we vigorously pursued women. Flexing our Neanderthal biceps, we swooped in and dragged packs of jungle babes by the hair to the nearest caves, and mounted them like rodeo bulls in heat. In the modern era, as budding young boys we continued our mad hunt for prey. We found out the cute girl next door could touch us in so many ways, most of which got us a considerable whipping. As Freshman year rolls around, you move on to trench warfare, and concoct a brilliant scheme to sabotage a girl's lunch. But as she reaches for her food tray, you realize you've made a terrible mistake. Somehow, you failed to notice that sweet little Nikki has blossomed into a woman, and is packing a killer ass. Her sandwich explodes...and as the mayonnaise drips down her chin, she licks her lips and coyly smiles at you. The visual is in soft focus, and slow motion. At that moment, in a bizarre twist of fate, you discover your destiny. You peer away nervously, and for the first time notice her dork friend has grown luscious puffy nipples, peeking out through her shirt. She gives you a devilish wink, and then Bammm; you go brain dead...overwhelmed by a strange, warm, swelling sensation. Your life will never be the same.

The hormonal frenzy has begun

Forget the theory of relativity, or the first silicon microchip; nothing has had a greater impact on the future of mankind than that first high school hard on. It's the engine behind capitalism. From that moment on, men live in a testosterone fog, racing to earn cash to impress women and get laid, while plotting ways to rip the clothes off of as many women as possible. The techniques will come slowly. To meet cheerleaders, we hid under the bleachers and peeked up their skirts. In college, we experiment with deep science, and discover the compelling relationship between alcohol and wet panties. Then comes the Porsche bimbo-magnet phase, and the romantic parking lot love. In our peak, some of us actually use speaking to get what we want. In our golden years, we finally wise up and just tape a Hundred to our zipper. I suppose the whole lust thing lasts forever. After all, my grandfather still watches young schoolgirls play hopscotch, only now he uses binoculars and wears raincoats. Seems his eyesight must be fading, and he has a fear of getting caught in thunderstorms.

It's a Man's World. It always has been, and it always will be. Human existence has advanced by driven males battling for honor, dignity, and their country. Men are the sacrificers in humanity, fighting for discovery, achievement or redemption to create a just world. Every major invention furthering civilization in the last 200 years is man-made; all modes of Transportation, the Infrastructure, Technology, Medicine, Computers.

Agriculture, from Nuclear Energy to Space Exploration. Man created it all.

Our veins pump with ambition and a rage to win. A man started every Fortune 500 Company. Men even dominate the feminine fields; fashion, interior design, cooking, and the arts. Why is this? The male brain is wired different than a woman's. Male decisions are based on statistics, facts and logic, and not evolving emotions. Men have more energy, competitiveness, and we channel our aggression in a success driven methodology. Men have larger brains and higher IQ's. Physically, men are genetically superior to women. More importantly, men have penises; and when we're not creating a complex civilization, we need to use the damn things. All the Time.

Staying a Bachelor in your late thirties and forties is no small task this day and age in the States. The anti-male, sex-negative culture does their damnest to smear anyone proudly masculine; who dares to taste the fruits of invigorating freedom. To the elitist sisterhood, a stress free man with a stimulating lifestyle, and supporting cast of sexy girlfriends is sleazy and contemptible. Staying single and keeping all of your own hard earned money is shamefully selfish. Clearly there must be something wrong with you. If your dates are nineteen and can't keep their hands off you in public, Oprah and her beefy Posse brand you an immature pervert of the worst kind, and a greedy one at that. We're told living uncommitted to marriage and raising children is a meaningless existence. "You're only contributing to the anxieties between the sexes." Hardly. It only creates anxiety amongst women, because the man's wallet is no longer in play. Enjoying life as you please sets a dangerous precedent. A man who women cannot control has no value in their world, and his actions must be silenced. It's a well protected secret this is perfectly normal in any other country.

A happy bachelor drives women nuts, yet it's the most natural thing in the world to want variety and live a fuller life. Let's face the facts. Try to find a guy who married in his early 20's, who wouldn't love to switch places with a successful bachelor in his late 30's. You can't. Ask a gourmet chef if he'd like to eat just one meal for the rest of his life, or risk seizure of 50% of his assets. He'll look at you like you're out of your mind. Then ask him if he likes sex more than food.

It can be tough being single, between juggling your sex schedule, waxing the Ferrari, cleaning out the hot tub, and trying to remember girls' names. But it does have it has its moments; just yesterday I pulled up to a stoplight with my college girlfriend's head bobbing up and down. The scowls from the bitter, chunky wenches in the next car always bring a smile to the face.

Reminds me of the old proverb:

Why do wives hate the missionary position?

Because they can't stand seeing a man have a good time.

The Myth of Monogamy

Monogamy and marriage are not always the appropriate choice. It's a level of responsibility that should be both respected and feared. The rules are cast in stone. You have to throw in the towel and stick with only one woman for the rest of your life, or face losing half your estate. There's no room for error. Personally, I think there should be a law requiring a potential groom to take a week vacation to Rio de Janeiro before he proposes. If he returns and can honestly say he only wants one girl for the rest of his life, he's either in love, impotent, or brain dead.

Polygamy may not be the perfect lifestyle choice for everyone, yet we are all genetically predisposed to it. Anthropologist Margaret Mead had the courage to dispel the myth of monogamy, and was heavily ridiculed. She discovered over 90% of human cultures are polygamist, and found almost the entire animal kingdom enjoys the same multi-partner lifestyle. The reality is, Men are biologically wired to lust for many women, and the prettiest, young ones we can find.

For me, I choose to live true to my dominant Alpha genes. In my past life, I was the fastest nympho Lion in the jungle. I patiently hid in the woods for hours on end without moving a muscle, until the freshest, cutest young lioness tip-toed out into the field, in heat for the first time. Then I sprinted out like the beast that I am, and mounted her so hard and long, I broke both her hind legs...and then strolled back to home base and waited for round two. Hell, I didn't even drink a victory beer back then. Men are natural born hunters, and are intended to be on a hormonal safari for years.

Your life goal should be to enjoy as many breathtaking, satisfying experiences you can. Let's be realistic. Which is more exhilarating? The first time with that scorching hot Russian exchange student with the bubblebutt at the gym, or your gargantuan, psychotic wife's latest weight loss program that she quits after a week?

Peeling away the Panty Barriers

After college, we see our future holding the promise of the ages. Strutting like debonair, swashbuckling warriors, we set out to pursue a life of easy riches and horny bitches. The world is our mating grounds. As we pole vault through nightclubs on our rods, we visualize corralling numerous sexy damsels in distress back to our castle for endless sweaty hours of nympho-pumping lust. Girls have a different vision.

The innocent college schoolgirl peering up at you with her pigtails, big doe eyes, perky tits and miniskirt, is plotting an alternate future for you, most of which involves her power shopping, while you're trapped in a lifetime of servitude in an office cubicle, trying to make the payments on her Lexus, 5-carat ring, and massive credit card debt. It's a struggle of the sexes. The truth be known; we are the pursued. Unless you're wise to a woman's devious charms and seduction motives, unless you learn how to work the system to your advantage, you barely stand a chance. Women are far more emotional than rational, but their survival instincts dwarf the typical man's ability to see through his testosterone fog. Girls possess immense manipulation powers over men via the limitation of the sex supply.

While boys are playing little league baseball and mastering video games, girls are being groomed by Mom, their teachers, and Reality shows on how to persuade, manipulate and control boys. They've practically got their Masters in the School of Sexual Temptation before we've witnessed the mystical third leg growing between our thighs for the first time.

Meeting women is the easy part. Navigating through their self-centered, neurotic behavior, imaginary problems, bitch shields, and surviving the chase unscathed is the real challenge. Any new man introduces change and potential disarray in their orderly lives. No matter how irrational they act, there is a science controlling her feelings and thoughts. It is a necessary evil that you must master your side of the game; perfecting the ability to influence and persuade her emotionally and physically to see the value of wanting you for who you are, and not just for what she can get out of you.

This is why you need your own barrier and screening process to determine if a girl represents seduction or destruction. One percent of women if attracted will sleep with you immediately. Ten percent will pursue a sexual relationship if you generate desire and push the right buttons. The rest will treat you to the full gamut of those wonderful things that define American femininity: childish cock-teasing, guilt tripping, game playing, attention-whoring, gold-digging and emotional terrorism. The most valuable skill in a bachelor's arsenal is knowing which girls not to pursue, and to excel at cutting your losses quick. Nothing is worse than discovering you've been played like a fool and didn't see it coming.

You have to tread lightly through the sexual jungle. What is intoxicating and irresistible is often laced with deception. Land twice in the wrong girl's bed, and she'll mark your ass with territorial claims faster than an ambulance chasing attorney in a hurricane's path. Coochie risk assessment is one of the most difficult levels to achieve; having the discipline to say no when you're drunk and in a catatonic state of lust. If a flower is unexpectedly spread open in front of you, pause and evaluate the down side. Don't let temptation get the best of you. Sometimes the risk of the plunging into the honey is not worth the reward of a cinderblock plunging through your windshield when you don't return her calls. There isn't a psychologist in the world who can fully explain what women think day in and day out, but hopefully you'll learn a thing or two with this book. We can all use a little help. Consider what Sigmund Freud had to say on his deathbed:

"Despite my 30 years of research into the feminine soul, I have not yet been able to answer the great question that has never been answered:
What does a woman want?"

The Playing Field has Changed

- "I am most anxious to enlist everyone who can speak or write to join in checking this mad, wicked folly of 'Women's Rights,' with all its attendant horrors ... Were women to 'unsex' themselves by claiming equality with men, they would become the most hateful, heathen and disgusting of beings and would surely perish without male protection."

Queen Victoria, 1870

Somehow, after millenniums of smooth interaction, something has gone wrong. Drastically wrong. The whole man and woman partnered forever thing stopped working. The catalyst for the problem even had a cute name for it. Feminism. With a catchy marketing blitz, and biased news coverage, they managed to glamorize it. Women wanted to try and be competitive with men. How cute! They even set out to prove it in a huge TV event. The infamous "Battle of the Sexes" pitted the current #1 seeded female tennis player (Billie Jean King) against a 55 yr. old below average male tennis player (Bobby Riggs). By a miracle of the ages, she won. Astounding!

The world tuned in to observe this glamorized celebration of the new Super Babe, the Feminist. With great irony, most felt like they had been had. If it's celebration of the woman, why is it you can barely tell the gender? Billy Jean looked more masculine than Bobby. A confused, sexless identity was born, lead by scowling, butch, beefy man-women in frumpy pantsuits. As for the rest of the world, the whole concept was an embarrassing sideshow. The sensual Latin and European women tradition lived on. The gorgeous, statuesque hotties with hourglass bodies, ass-length hair, and sex on the brain continued pursuing men. They continued flirting, screwing, and loving men, while wearing their thongs, revealing tops, mini skirts and high heels. They stayed, well...feminine. The Outrage.

Billie Jean King went on to become a tennis announcer, where she perfected insulting Anna Koumikova's playing her entire career. (2-time Grand Slam doubles champion). After all, Anna is very bad for the cause. She isn't a scheming feminist. She oozes sex appeal and loves everything masculine. Not only that, Butch Billie has no shot at her pussy. Billie even got the TV crew to stop showing low angle camera shots from behind Anna Hell, that's the only reason men even watch women's tennis.

Feminism was alive and here to stay in the states. In many ways it defied explanation. They're against women acting like women, and against men being men. They oppose both manliness and womanliness. Yet they set out to look and act like men, while trying to feminize men through political correctness. Like we wouldn't notice what sexless, bitter, humorless, confrontational, man-hating cattle they became, and in turn we'd become passive, lisping, limp-wristed, bedwetting wimps sipping decaf lattes with brazed tofu and diet lettuce while discussing the nuances of gender conflict resolution studies. Oh wait, there's millions of these alternative, liberal girly-men now. Been to Seattle, Austin, Greenwich Village or a Starbucks lately? Every one of these sassy sailors is just one drunk, emotional sob-fest away from plopping down and blowing his consoling roommate.

"Thanks dude. Thhhaayy Bruce, doth this mean we're gay? I don't know whatth with me lately. My lunar cycle is tho thensitive to my needs, it's affecting my aura and stuff. Think I should shower this month?"

The Brain Dead Feminized Media

It's both hilarious and insulting watching the ridiculous fantasyland the feminized media lives in. Despite men creating the entire civilization's infrastructure and business world, they ridicule us every minute they can out of raging jealousy. The Cinema, television, teachers, divorcees, Oprah, and the narcissistic airheads in the "Cosmo" world of print media brainwash young girls from an early age about the "inferiority of men." It's a huge support group for male bashing; an elitist team of calculating, sassy, you-go-grrrl women built like middle linebackers, with faces that would scare a pit bull. Every sitcom, movie, and commercial we're bombarded by feminist propaganda, portraying white heterosexual men as incompetent, vulgar, buffoons mumbling nonsense while struggling to tie their shoes. The wives are beautiful, thin, successful executives supporting the family. Practically a third of the dudes in sitcoms are sassy gays...gays you'd want to open a can of whoop-ass on, though you wouldn't because they'd probably enjoy it.

I don't know what country this is supposed to portray, but it isn't the United States. The last time I strolled through Wal Mart, the wives I see waddling down the aisles average 200+ pounds, and haven't held a job in a decade. They're barely able to negotiate steering a shopping cart, let alone locate their screaming, out-of-control kids. The whole scene resembles a late night infomercial for Cows Gone Wild...

...and there isn't a fag in the whole building.

The Real Motives behind Feminism

Feminists were very slick in using incrementalism to spread their empowerment disease. They successfully camouflaged their real intentions, and men continued to play along and fall in love, like the romantic fools we are. We trusted women and married them, without giving it a second thought. Soon, the cute little feminists played their Ace card. They invented a neat little thing called "no fault divorce."

- Di-vo-ree (di-vôrs), n. from Latin (divortium) -
Ripping a man's wallet out through his testicles.

As it turns out, feminism has nothing to do gender, and everything to do with money and power. The person controlling the relationship is the one most willing to terminate it. The way divorce laws are written, that clearly is the woman. Women initiate almost 75% of divorces in the US, as the outcome often resembles winning the lottery. With the media, liberal attorneys and judges in their back pocket the results are guaranteed. Women have seen the big picture, and found that obtaining wealth doesn't actually require hard work. It turns out they really can compete with men. All it takes is a couple of years of marriage role-playing, and a good attorney. Millions have perfected the art, and can be heard bragging how they "divorced well." Forget white-collar crime. white-panty crime has resulted in the largest money transfer schemes conceived in the 20th Century. Women now control an astonishing 80% of the wealth in the United States.

There's nothing cute about that.

This country is filled with men living like battered subservient slaves out of fear of losing everything. There are many problem cases out there. A husband slaves a 12-hour workday and returns home, expecting fun playing with his 2 year old and the dog. Instead, for the crime of being 5 minutes late, he gets whacked over the head with a frying pan and is ordered to mow the goddamn lawn. As luck would have it, like most husbands, he didn't win the lottery. He's now married to an unemployed, screeching, neurotic elephant. The wedding pictures of his once thin, cute, bubbly bride who skipped down the aisle seem almost comical now. He doesn't know whether to laugh or cry. He'd call his married friends and compare notes, but wives eliminate all contact with a man's past. What the hell. The other guys are probably holding an ice pack to their head, if they're not divorced already.

A Woman's Hidden Agenda

Men don't say a word to women about how they should live their life, but boy how they try to run yours. When they can't control you, the look in their eyes is like holding a crucifix to a vampire. It takes a patient man to dodge the bullets, and find the rare sexy, intelligent, honest, respectful bride untarnished by the poisonous feminist propaganda. Women are in the marriage business, and most have a hidden agenda. Men with money are targets, pursued by con artist babes looking to marry you with the intent to divorce in 3 years...to seize your assets. They pressure you to get hitched and have kids, but it rarely has anything to do with keeping the family name. It may have 30 years ago, but times have changed. Men created the Fortune 500, but women are now the CEO's of the largest business in the United States: the Divorce Industry. Sales are way up, divorcees are living fat and happy, and they want to keep the gravy train running and start round two...or was it four? I mean like who can keep track? As if!

Trophy Wife Boot Camp

Take for example, the trophy wives. While men are seeking love & family, these cons are training hard for the business of future settlements, alimony, child support, cars, houses, and lawsuits, I mean marriage. If all goes as planned, the Boob jobs, nose jobs, tummy tucks, butt tucks, bleached hair and liposuction may soon pay off. Her dream man is on the horizon. The fantasy life of luxuries provided by a Gazillionaire are a tantalizingly elixir, just as long as the old geezer can get out of his wheelchair without knocking over the damn ventilator.

"One more time, you geriatric prick, and I'm giving you a flat!! "

Trophy wives stay honest to the "marriage institution", and tolerate Daddy Big Bucks for the obligatory 30 months, while plotting their exit.

Divorce Excuse: "We grew apart".

Translation: "I stayed in the master bedroom trying to crack the safe, while medics perform a suspicious autopsy on poor dear old Mortimer."

The last thing aspiring wives need are distractions when they are this close to pay dirt. Professional Bachelors dating a fleet of college hotties and potential divorce protégés are bad for business. These happy bastards need to be suppressed and hidden from view at all costs.

J. Paul Getty reflected how "Sex is what gives a man his business drive." As the world's first billionaire, that pretty much makes him an expert on women. In fact, in his final days, all 7 of his girlfriends lived with him at his palatial Sutton Place estate. They professed their love for him, and naturally claimed they had no interest in his will. Getty was nobody's fool. He played along with his best naïve, old doddering geezer impression, and left 99.9% of his estate to his Trust. In the end, he handed out parting gifts to each girl of $50,000 to close to a million. In a touching display of romantic gratitude, a few reciprocated by lovingly suing his ass while he was still warm in the coffin. Hell, they probably stapled the subpoena to his forehead.

Women take advantage of men not just because they are taught to, it's because they can. More accurately, sad to say, it's because men let them. There's always another sucker around the corner. Almost any hot babe can spend her budding youth on her back, and eventually own a mansion. We all have friends or relatives stuck in a gut wrenching, sexless life, suffering emotionally and financially at the whim of a woman. There is a better way, and every guy has the means to change this. This culture has allowed woman to accumulate too much power over men.

It's Time to take the Power Back

This guide reveals how to master seduction using psychoanalysis, strong body language and attitude, and persuasive charm. With this ability to easily influence female behavior, you'll enjoy an exhilarating lifestyle that you control with numerous hot women. The guide is also designed to make sure men look at the big picture. If you decide to marry, you must be legally prepared. Face reality...it's a battlefield out there now. The best defense is a good offense. In the modern era, like JP Getty, you need to have an asset protection strategy in place before getting engaged, and have the patience of a saint in choosing your partner. Screw this one up, and you'll end up having to subscribe to the married guy's version of Playboy. Every month the centerfold gets a little bit older, a little fatter, and a lot meaner. You'd love to cancel the subscription, but it would cost you a damn fortune.

With extensive practice in the field, these profiled cases of female insanity will bare no resemblance to your future. When you seal away your assets permanently, you maintain the upper hand in dealing with any seductress coyly slithering around your penis and wallet.

You will always be the King of your Castle

The Professional Bachelor Dating Guide is divided into 8 sections

Mastering Your Alpha Presentation

Section One...

Every Seduction begins with creating subconscious inner attraction and lust before you speak. Using reverse psychology, we analyze what women visually desire in a man's presentation and attitude, and layout the techniques to Give them what they Want to See.

... The Universal Foundation of an Alpha Stud -

This covers the many facets of masculinity; from strong body language, a highly confident, borderline-cocky attitude and high social status image. The way you project yourself is 80% of the chase.

Section Two...

Charm their panties off. Mastering the gift of the silver tongue is when you have the delivery down to an art. When you play to their ego, you always leave her wanting more of you, by making her feel wanted and special. She is wanted and special, and she's probably smoking hot too. That's why you're trying to date her, rip her clothes off and pin her ankles behind her ears. In the second phase of seduction, you build on her inner attraction and lust and Give her what she Wants to Hear.

Here we dissect in eighteen easy steps how to develop the magical talent of Persuasive Charisma. This allows you to quickly create quality time and comfort levels that reduce her barriers, builds a rapport, and sets up the emotional ingredients needed for the close.

Speed Dating University

Section Three...

Speed dating is the only way to execute the chase. Time is money, and a player who controls each has his game polished. Here we cover the methods of mastering your time and money management; the avenue where 95% of men fail. We cover various quick hit and run qualifying methods used for initial dates. Each is designed to swiftly weed out the game players, cons, and selfish whiners, while concentrating on the higher quality targets.

Role Playing Techniques

Section Four...

By finding her weaknesses, beliefs and desires, with persuasion conversation skills you create the proper mood to satisfy her wants and needs. This phase we Give her the Emotions She Wants to Feel. This section covers a dozen different role-playing techniques to use in seducing the appropriate targets. Women all role-play to lure in men. For many girls their whole life is one big story. Allow Brett Tate to return the favor and divulge some highly effective role-playing strategies to seduce the ladies.

Be all you can be. In fact, go beyond that.
Be someone else.

Mastery of Seductive role-playing allows the average looking guy to be just as proficient at having a revolving door of girlfriends. It will help you conquer any fears in approaching women you've previously thought were way out of your league. After you master the advanced conversation skills, you'll soon host the hot new late night series:

How to Win Friends and Influence Pussy

Section Five...

Psychoanalysis fine-tunes and accelerates the chase. Concentrate your focus solely on finding the right type of girls for you; it's your most powerful tool in dating. Swiftly size up women and pick the winners, while successfully dodging the emotional tampons, money leeches and psychos. Learn how to spot their nonsense, and master the art of avoiding them. Dating and marriage can either be an exhilarating experience, or it can be a living hell. Men waste extraordinary amounts of time and money dating and tolerating the wrong women in relationships. This is a numbers game. There are plenty of female targets. Align your scopes, and choose wisely.

Bachelor College

Section Six...

Cynical Observations and Field Techniques spelled out in classic rants, slams, raves and zingers, honed from years of execution in the Trenches.

Follow the Money

Section Seven...

If there is anything you get out of this book, this chapter should be it. The marriage industry has failed because the laws provide women a financial incentive to destroy it. There is nothing more powerful than eliminating the ability of women ruining your life financially in a divorce. He who controls the money, controls his life. With today's divorce laws bordering on male castration, before making any long-term decisions with a woman, you need a proactive Asset Protection Plan in advance. Legally shelter all your money from potential litigation in layers of trusts and entities. The process is very easy, affordable, entirely legal, and is near bulletproof protection from litigation. Vow to stay single until you near 40. Keep all of your wealth from your top earning years, and seal it away permanently. Spoil yourself rotten with your own money instead of handing it over to Satan's daughter, Mrs. Wrong in a divorce. Want to find out what a woman's true intentions are? Want to know the answer to the age-old question...is she marrying you for Love or Money? There is no faster way to find this out, than to remove all of your assets prior to marriage.

Imagine this little scene. You're parked in your mansion driveway, with your trophy babe in the Ferrari Convertible. The Moonlight glistens down, silhouetting her flowing golden locks across her angelic face. As her breathing accelerates, a shiny bead of sweat slides lower between her heaving breasts. She strokes your upper thigh, unzips your fly, and gazes at you licking her lips. As she lowers her head downward, she starts quietly purring about all the advantages of you marrying her. You reach for your 8th Vodka Red Bull, slam it, and crank up the Metallica CD.

"Sssshhhgreat idea Buffy, Tiffany, whatever. By the way, there's this little thing I forgot to mention. You know all these luxuries we're enjoying right now? The mansion, the sports cars, boats, vacations, and endless cash flow. I don't own any of it!! Layers and layers of impenetrable Trusts control them all. The assets are untouchable. If we divorce, you won't see dime one. Just thought you should know...now this doesn't have any affect on your wedding intentions, does it? Hey, watch the teeth."

In today's litigious society, with female divorce fraud and identity theft so prevalent, every man needs to take advantage of the legal options in protecting his money. In straightforward language, learn the ins and outs of asset protection, and create a legal shield between your assets and any unbalanced divorces, frivolous lawsuits, judgments, bloodsuckers and ambulance chasers.

What you don't own can't be taken from you

The Holy Grail is Overseas

Section Eight...

When the allure of the chase fades, you become anxious to discover the best options in life for exotic women, sports and adventure. Many bachelors venture out to explore the wilder side of life, and take jet-setting vacations around the globe, dating insatiable exotic women from other cultures. There are places to satisfy your animal lust at levels beyond anything you can imagine. Pure hedonistic lust 24/7. Many expats, myself included, spend most of the year out of the country; and have a lifestyle and revolving parade of hot young girlfriends that perhaps King Hefner would envy.

If you want to catapult your game to the Major Leagues and truly live The Professional Bachelor lifestyle, feast your eyes on this section. A time and money saving guide to the best tropical paradises in the world, where the babes compete for you. In some cities it requires ZERO talent. Your only limitations are your Viagra prescription and sperm. Hell, you don't even have to speak the language. There are tens of thousands of scorching hot girls who smother you with attention just a flight away. It's complete role reversal. You feel like a Swedish Supermodel strolling through a fraternity party. So kick back, enjoy the ride, and be a master of the game.

You know... at the only game that actually matters.

"It really doesn't matter what people think as long as you've got a young beautiful piece of ass."
