THE SEASIDE!

This is a wall of great intensity and furious it kind of hums yellow and hums green and never shall it hum purple Captain when will you relieve me The wall I love at night is huge and warms me like a caterpillar or bag but do I also have a family Captain or is the wall the only shelter I have known and furious why and humming brightly why Why is all the beauty in the wall and not in me Captain and in you Captain you are studded lines of buttons That is some finery! Whereas my outfit is it like a prison with the dimmer switch turned low No my outfit is nothing the dimmer switch to nothing But I can tell you things I'm not a piece of foam

SELF-PORTRAIT WITH FIRE

They asked me if I was on fire and I said No no no no no no no I did not want to make trouble I was lying I was on fire on my legs and on my hands I was ashamed I tried to hide my legs by kneeling I set the grass on fire The colors were a brilliant green and orange combination I liked it and smoke I was not in pain or on pain I was on fire and lying why to the people Obviously they loved me were warm and pink and vocal on a promising spring day with electric buds Electrifying I mean I mean bright bright bright like a likeness of me I wanted to gnaw and to gnaw on an extra large slice of my likeness

TEAMWORK SHOULD COME FROM THE SOUL

They were projecting a hologram onto my snowsuit A hologram of nature A snowsuit of white Nature was not moving but I was moving and that was most of the plot We got good ratings They were going to release nature in Los Angeles Houston and Maine but I was never going to be released anywhere They were going to give me snacks and send me into the tundra and evaluate how long I survived It was our greatest collaboration I thought Only they were the ones with ideas and I contributed two things My body and the suggestion that we should maybe try to write it down When I died it would be a polar bear that got me I predicted and tried to practice relaxing b/c I wanted my last feeling to be relaxation but they said that wouldn't fit in with the show

IF YOU GO INTO THE WOODS YOU WILL FIND IT HAS A TECHNOLOGY

This tree has a small LED display It is glowing and it can show you words and it can show you pictures and it can melt from one choice to another and you are looking at it and it wants you to share the message but it can't see that you are the only one around and that everyone else is hibernating which you love You are so happy and alone with the red and yellow lights It's a nice day to be in nature and to read up on the very bland ideas this tree has about how to live This tree says grow stronger and this tree says fireworks effect This tree is the saddest prophet in history but you don't tell it that You are trying to show it respect which gets tiresome but then it flashes a snake at you It's a kind of LED tree hybrid joke and you could just kiss it for trying For failing But it can't see you and it starts to cry

PEOPLE ARE A LIVING STRUCTURE
LIKE A CORAL REEF

People love to clean their ears and I love people very much They are everywhere! Every single thing I love I love for windows only and if one window reflects another then friends for me it's all over And in the windows are trees and in the windows are people What are they even doing with their hunger and in their new shirts They are taking care of themselves and they are taking each other out for lunch Oh even the rain has to love them People are just too attractive! and the rain places itself on the window in order to be closer to the people the ones who are eating The ones who are busting out vigor Oh people You have to love people They are so much like ourselves

MOSS DOES NOT LOVE OTHER MOSS

It isn't dark yet though it should be dark The grass is bright You can still see it and warm and you can smell it and elsewhere two people hold one another close in a darkness they have created They can feel their insides turning to olive oil and late late afternoon light It's hard not to be them to be like a fallen off piece of the mountain to have traveled so far and still without darkness to see the whole system The houses pulling up from the soil and to want the stars out now To want the stars out now like a linen bag over the head

TO KEW BY TRAM

Lying down among the daffodils I am composed but not the daffodils because I crushed them! Not as an act in itself It was auxiliary Were my next attempt to stand myself erect upon my feet I would leave behind devastation in the organized shape of my body This is also how I move myself through space Everywhere these holes I don't look back to When I return as a giraffe the holes will have to change They will say no god would plan on such a shape And if then I lie down again on these yellow flowers they will teach me that my goldenness is dim

NO LIGHT AND NO HANDS

In the field there was a disembodied whistle Disembodied by night which disembodies me too I was in the field also I was in hearing distance Hence I am telling you A whistle is often just bad but this one I liked in part for its dislocation It was in the field with me but did not begin there whereas I began there In the daytime I was a hole but at night I could be nothing if I wanted A wakeful part of nothing with an ear

AN ACTIVITY

There is a quilt and he is beneath it and some light comes down through stitches He can see that it's man-made Can see his knees and hands and belly and by the light he knows the night lies in the future just as he lies on the floor The quilt holding him together like skin and warm and also with a soft all-natural light He thinks from above probably he appears a rough organic form Kind of casual like a canoe that's been attached to boulders or casual like an island Like he is rising from the floor and someone will maybe discover him soon Give him a name and go away and tell a soul or two about it How he was there and the quilt was there Empty young and quiet like a prison yard when breaks the afternoon

HOW LIKE AN ISLAND

How like an island we are in love encouraging moss & like an island we are barely moving Just to exist takes much concentration & like an island in love we have a house in our two imaginations & they intersect It strengthens the house & our feelings Unlike an island we wake up An island never sleeps That is its duty & ours to remain in love barely moving We do not want to disturb the house Do not want it to fall into the ocean that is always so nearby It surrounds us & is moving Like an island the ocean does not see us or care why though we persist in loving it at one rate or another & are waking close together in the dark

MORE OF FORM IS MORE OF CONTENT

As a child X is too small for the furniture The furniture causes his legs to dangle over other junk such as the floor and X feels woe X feels like dying or purchasing specially made child furniture Small chair Small divan When X grows to full size the feeling remains He is out of whack with the world and it is like a crab who walks out of its shell and that is not a metaphor for X's emotional life His feelings are verified true The trouble is when X is small X is very very very very small and when normal X is very very very very normal and in this extremity nothing will fit

TALK RADIO

There is only one thing in life that matters It has to keep growing and it doesn't need me Those are not clues Those are laws The thing is the sky It is blinking I think also I must be blinking as if to say Sky you are not the only one outdoors with autonomy and the sky stays very quiet It keeps blinking like it is stupid People think when something doesn't talk it is interesting I am always talking and never interesting like a pile of rocks Is that interesting or moss wrapped up over the branch but nature why don't you say something It scares people when there's dead air

TAXONOMY OF THAT NOVEMBER

Then was an animal I could not identify and that also I lived with In performing our daily headcount I noticed Then's skull was shaped like a tiny cloud and yet I said nothing I fed Then some hay and we were feeling wretched in the blue pantry and at night we could not dream There was a war on but still I got dressed beneath the towering stars and no moon According to the chore wheel I should have been sweeping According to science we should have been dead I knocked on Then's teeth and they were not hollow like the sun was and I wrote it on my list We enjoyed the taste of saltwater and baseball we enjoyed on the radio in daylight in a blue room that grew off the hallway We were happy and wretched and cloudy and setting fire to everything for warmth
